Information and Admissions

Information and Admissions provides information and advice about all ESADE programmes. Any questions you might have about programme content, the admissions process, financing arrangements and so on will be answered by the Information and Admissions Department. If you want more detailed information, get in touch with us and we will arrange a personal meeting with one of the programme's faculty members.

Application for Admission

Applications for Admission should be submitted between the 15th of September 2002 and the 5th of June 2003. The Admissions Committee meets three times a year.

- 16 December 2002

Interviews with members of the Admissions Committee

Upon turning in their completed application forms, candidates should request an appointment for an interview with one of the Committee members. Applicants who do not live in Catalonia and find it difficult to travel to Barcelona should notify the Information and Admissions office, which will study each case on its merits.

Notification from the Admissions Committee

The Admissions Committee reviews every application once all the information requested has been submitted. The Committee will send written notification of its decisions within no more than one month from the date of the Committee meetings listed above.
Tuition Fees

€ 17,700

Programme tuition is as follows:

€ 5,900 first year
€ 5,900 second year
€ 5,900 third year

Students who take longer than scheduled to complete the programme will be required to pay an additional €120.

Financial Aid

ESADE has agreements with various banks that offer student loans (on particularly good terms), covering the cost of the entire programme. Student loans are a common way to finance your studies at ESADE. ESADE programmes are also included in the financial aid programmes of most organizations working with international co-operation and cultural exchanges.

Ph.D. in Management Sciences

An international vision

ESADE is a founder member of the European Doctoral Programmes Association in Management and Business Administration (EDAMBA), created in 1991 in order to foster co-operation between Ph.D. programmes and to contribute towards academic knowledge in the field of doctoral research on management. The Association promotes student, faculty and research exchanges between the various schools forming the EDAMBA network. These exchanges feature various activities: annual gatherings, Summer Schools, and supervised workshops.

ESADE will also offer a new track for the doctoral programme in Management Sciences from the 2002-2003 academic year onwards: A Ph.D., which will be imparted in English. A new programme, titled Management Sciences: Organizing and Managing Companies (ESADE), is aimed at Ph.D. candidates who wish to compete in the international academic market. The programme will form part of the International Graduate School of Catalonia, a newly-established entity promoted by the Catalan Government.

In addition, Ph.D. candidates in all of ESADE’s programmes have the opportunity to participate in the European Doctoral School on Knowledge and Management (EUDOKMA) and obtain the EUDOKMA Certificate of Advanced Studies, and the EUDOKMA European Ph.D. Certificate.

Qualifications

Participants in the ESADE PhD in Management Programme are awarded the following qualifications:

- Ph. D. in Management Sciences: Financial Economics
- Ph. D. in Management Sciences: Business Administration
- Ph.D. in Management Sciences: Organizing and Managing Companies

Access to the EUDOKMA European PhD Certification (European Doctoral School On Knowledge and Management)

Ph.D. candidates may submit an application to participate in the European Doctoral School on Knowledge and Management, which is run by the European Consortium of Doctoral Programmes. Business schools in the Consortium offer courses and seminars, each worth three credits and imparted in an intensive week’s study. All of the courses are officially included in the ESADE programme.

The Certification is not an official qualification and its value resides in the schools awarding it and the exacting standards set.
