Short Bio:

Matteo Di Stasi is a Ph.D. candidate in Behavioral Science at Esade Business School. He holds an M.Sc. in Strategic Management from the University of Lausanne and a B.Sc. in Business Administration from the University of Bologna. Before pursuing an academic career, he worked in communication at the United Nations in Geneva (Switzerland) and in a NGO in Belgium.

His research interest is in emotion dynamics. More specifically, his research interests lie at the intersection of decision making, emotions, negotiation, and verbal and non-verbal communication. His work has led to collaborating with multiple international co-authors.
